

Privacy Policy

are committed to protecting your privacy whilst visiting

.co.uk. We will keep the information you provide confidential at all times.

will not disclose your personal information outside the Group and Partner organisations, and does not pass data to third parties for any other purpose. All personal information is handled in accordance with the United Kingdom's data protection legislation.

Security

Our strict security policy is followed in the processing of your personal data. When you submit payment information we ensure that your browser encrypts it.

Information About Your Cookies

Cookies are frequently used on the Internet and will not affect your operating system. Cookies are used by websites to remember information about you at a later date. We do not hold any personal details that could be read or understood by others. It is possible to configure your browser so that your computer does not accept cookies. However, you may be unable to take full advantage of the site, if you do so.

Applications

When you apply for an

course or service on-line, we will ask you for personal details required to process your application. This information will only be used for the intended purpose stated.

Questions

If you have any questions regarding our privacy policy please contact us by emailing info@rdi.co.uk or telephoning 024 76515 700.