

MBA, UK MBA, Online MBA courses from RDI

Online MBA courses

A Master of Business Administration or MBA from a UK university is designed to equip individuals with essential modern management skills and knowledge. Online MBA courses develop analytical and decision making capabilities designed for the challenges of today's business environment. As part of an online MBA course an individual will study tools and techniques that enable sound business strategies and decisions to be undertaken. There are cost effective alternatives to studying full-time on campus. For example, a UK MBA course can be studied by distance learning or online with tutor support.

Study by Distance Learning

The online MBA qualification will be the same as that studied on campus. Additionally potential employers frequently recognise and value the commitment made by an individual studying by distance learning or online. Moreover studying an MBA by distance learning or online allows the individual to continue to apply their new found knowledge in the work place and to further develop their career during their studies.

When you study through RDI we provide you with professionally developed MBA distance learning or online study materials. The MBA study materials have been developed to provide sequential learning with continual access to self assessment and task based progress measurement. On enrolment of a UK MBA, each individual is allocated a tutor for academic support who can be contacted by email and telephone. Each individual will also have access to a student support co-ordinator who will be there for administrative advice to make the MBA learning experience successful and enjoyable.
